

Washington (AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway expressed "particular concern" to Congress yesterday that the "new look" military plan might make the Army too weak to face up to Russia's evergrowing military might.

But Ridgway, the Army chief of staff, begged off from saying publicly whether he had recommended sharp cuts in the Army budget under the program. He conceded a reply to the question might be embarrassing.

The general appeared with other top military and civilian chiefs at a Senate Armed Services subcommittee hearing on the $37,600,000,000 military budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Ridgway voiced what seemed to be the first official protest from the Pentagon to the Eisenhower administration's "dynamic" long-range military program, based on more air power and fewer ground troops.

In a prepared statement, Ridgway said:

"Because of the increasing complexity of land warfare and the resultant greater battlefield demands upon the fighting man, the individual soldier, far from receding in importance, is emerging ever more clearly as the ultimate key to victory."

The advent of new weapons and greater emphasis on air power, Ridgway said, had only "given new dimensions of land warfare, without changing war's nature and basic objectives." The ultimate objective in war, he said, "is control of land and of people living on land."

Several of the Pentagon leaders presented prepared statements to the subcommittee but the only one read aloud was by Secretary of Defense Wilson.

Sen. Maybank (D-S. C.), raised the question of whether Ridgway was satisfied with the budget submitted by Wilson. Pressed for a reply, the general said several times: "I accept this decision as a sound one."

When Maybank persisted, asking Ridgway if he recommended the budget, the general said he wanted to challenge the propriety of answering such a question at a public hearing. He asked Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich.) whether he could reply at a closed door hearing.

"Because it might be embarrassing?" Maybank asked.

"Yes, sir," Ridgway replied. Earlier Secretary of the Army Stevens said he was "not perfectly satisfied" with the reduced Army appropriations. He added: "I have no doubt of the Army being able to solve its problems."

Ferguson questioned Wilson closely about a speech in which Secretary of State Dulles said the new military program was based on the theory of "massive retaliation."

Asked if the United States planned "sole or exclusive reliance on new weapons," Wilson said it didn't.

Retaliation against enemy attacks by strategic atomic bombing, he said, is "just an evolutionary movement — it is nothing radical. It is not all or nothing."

Wilson said he felt sure the United States would meet each situation as it arises.

The defense secretary's prepared statement said the new defense plan is based on the "creation, maintenance and full exploitation of air power." He said it would mean an increase in air strength for both the Air Force and Navy.

Elderly Bride Loses Cash, Jewels, Husband

New York (AP) — An elderly bride who has accused her husband of ending a one-day honeymoon by making off with $303,100 in cash and jewels had a change of heart when the couple was reunited yesterday.

Mrs. Dyoil Prather, 67, of Palm Beach, Fla., sought to withdraw her complaint against Percy William Herman, 49.

Commission Studies Scandal

Rome (AP) — The government commission appointed by Premier Mario Scelba began an investigation yesterday into the scandal death of party girl Wilma Montesi and its links with government figures.

Raffaele de Caro, Liberal minister without portfolio, began the inquiry on direction of the Christian Democrat premier who also called in for the conference the commander of Italy's carabinieri police, Gen. Mannerini.

Premier Scelba's Cabinet meets today to consider repercussions in the case of the party girl whose body was washed up on the beach of Ostia 11 months ago, allegedly after a high society party. The Communist press has been hammering on it in efforts to discredit the government.

Reds Smash Through Fort In Indochina

Hanoi, Indochina (AP) — French headquarters announced last night that thousands of wildly screaming Communist-led Vietnamese troops smashed through the northern defenses of Dien Bien Phu fortress at one point and were advancing toward the heart of the base.

The French said they killed 1,500 of the attackers before they gave up the northern defense hill position of the Dust Bowl fortress in northwest Indochina.

The biggest and most decisive battle of the Indochina War is now being fought with thousands of Vietnamese pressing steadily closer to the heart of the bastion intended to stop the southward march of rebel armies.

The French threw fresh tanks, troops and planes into the battle. They bolstered their stronghold, 175 miles west of Hanoi, with a battalion of paratroopers. They also sent planes almost 200 miles from the carrier Aromanches to bomb and strafe Vietnamese artillery positions.

Pearson Attacks Dulles Plan

Washington (AP) — Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson served notice yesterday that Canada and other Western Allies must be consulted fully before the United States makes any decision to "retaliate instantly" against an aggressor.

Asserting the dominion's close ties with the United States entitle it especially to "an appropriate share" in any decision which might involve a far-reaching atomic war, Pearson said:

"Indeed, such agreement, after consultation and discussion, is to put it bluntly, necessary if this policy of preventing aggression by immediate and overwhelming devastation is to work collectively."

Pearson spoke out in an address before a National Press Club luncheon on the eve of a high-level trade and economic conference with Secretary of State Dulles and top Eisenhower Cabinet officials.

The Canadian minister laid down his government's defense view in commenting on Dulles' Jan. 12 speech which first announced the new American defense policy of massive retaliation.

In this New York address, Dulles reported Eisenhower and the nation's top National Security Council had completed a sweeping review of military strategy designed to curb any expansionist moves by Russia.

Man Who Doesn't Want A Raise Believes Fighting Qualities Outweigh Finances

By Arthur Edson

Washington (AP) — Rep. Usher Burdick (R-ND) is an unusual man. He's one of the few persons in this country who doesn't want his pay raised.

There have been several proposals to boost the present congressional pay of $15,000 a year. Naturally, this kind of talk brings a gleam to the eyes of most congressmen. But it only brings bulky, shaggy 75-year-old Usher Burdick up fighting mad, all 270 pounds of him.

He insists congressmen are making plenty now, and that a raise might only lower the quality of the lawmakers.

"Then we'll get congressmen out only for profit and gain for their services," he says. "This job should be something besides that."

Burdick readily concedes one point. Comparatively, congressmen don't make as much as when he first was elected to Congress in 1934.

He got $10,000 a year then. "I used to be able to get by on $5 a day. Now I can't begin to do it on ten."

On the other hand, he thinks he was overpaid in 1934. "Why, I couldn't have got a job back home that would have paid half that," he says. "I had to pass the hat to pay for my campaign, and when I got elected I had to borrow $100,000. But it only brings bulky, shaggy 75-year-old Usher Burdick up fighting mad, all 270 pounds of him."

Rather than stress the financial side of Congress or of life—Burdick would like to stress this: What are a man's fighting qualities?

"A fellow without a temper," he said, "is no good in this world."

Nor should the temper be exclusively masculine. The Burdicks have three children, two boys and a girl, all of whom are lawyers. Of daughter Eileen Rosemary Burdick, he says: "She's got the devil in her all right. I mean, she has vim and vigor."

Burdick showed vim and vigor while playing football on the great University of Minnesota teams of 1903 and 1904. A mere 220 pounds then, Burdick played end. He was so fast he could run 100 yards in 10.5 seconds while wearing his football uniform.

"Sometimes you'd think you did not have a thing left," Burdick says, "and then you'd look at the fellow across the line and see he was worse off than you were."

In North Dakota, where Republicans squabble with each other more than they do with the Democrats, Burdick has given his political enemies hope.

"I have promised to drop out," he says, "when I reach the age of 90."

He figures this is quite a concession. His mother didn't die until 99, and then only because "she caught pneumonia after crawling up a mountain."

Burdick smiled fondly as he thought of his mother.

"She had the fire," he said.

Party Chairmen Lash Out At Failings Of Politics

Washington (AP) — The Democratic national chairman accused a "badly split" GOP last night of making "a campaign of vilification which can destroy us," and his Republican counterpart accused the Democrats of having "almost lived by dividing the people."

Stephen A. Mitchell for the Democrats and Leonard W. Hall for the Republicans, took each other on in a public debate at Georgetown University.

Both were heavily applauded.

Referring to remarks about "dividing the American people," Hall told a student audience estimated at 1,000 persons:

"My good friends, the Democratic party has almost lived by dividing the people of America for the last 20 years."

Mitchell took out after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) by name. He said a divided GOP has failed to control the senator and does not deserve the support of America's young people.

Mitchell quoted Hall as having said that left wing socialism is the backbone of the opposition to the GOP and adding that "Communism is another name and method of achieving what they want."

Robbers Pay Victims Fare On Subway

New York (AP) — A restaurant manager told police today that two handouts robbed him of $1,185, then walked him down Broadway, paid his subway fare and shoved him aboard a train at Times Square before they fled.

The victim, Ambrose Casey, 27, got off at the next station and reported the offbeat "kidnap."

Defense Urges Marine Medal

Washington (AP) — Defense counsel for Col. Frank H. Schwable told a Marine court of inquiry yesterday the flier who made a false confession of germ warfare under Communist pressure is entitled not only to exoneration but also a medal for bravery.

The 45-year-old Marine flier's legal advisers, one a Marine and the other a disabled ex-Marine, stoutly defended him as a valiant man who had held out to the limit of his endurance.

Col. Paul D. Sherman and John Pratt told the special court of inquiry that Schwable signed the "confession" only after five months of Red Chinese brain washing had left him broken in body and mind.

Schwable repudiated the "confession" immediately upon his release from 14 months in a war prison in Korea.

Lenten Meditation

It is characteristic of the family of Christians and the pilgrims but they are allowed by their mother, the Church, to join with others in romping through the alleys of time and frolicking in the streets of the world. But as a good Mother she sees that rubbing elbows with all classes and all types her children will be subject to moral diseases and spiritual chicken pox that constantly infests the Kingdom of Satan, the World.

So once a year Holy Mother Church sounds the fateful clarion call to all her children. For 40 days she quarantines them and does not allow them to go to movies, theaters, she puts them on a diet, and regulates their intake of food, she cuts off their drinks, imposes upon them the spiritual remedies and medicines of prayer, fasting, and almsgiving. This quarantine gives them time to remember that the world is not their lasting home, but they are pilgrims on earth on their way to heaven, that sin is a disease which will cause them to tumble into the treacherous jungle of hell, and that in imitating the fast, penance and death of their Leader and Redeemer Jesus Christ, they will one day arrive at their rightful destination. The WAY of penance and fasting is the only WAY to overcome sin, satan and the world, for there is no improvement on the WAY OF THE CROSS.

Subcommittee To Decide On McCarthy Feud

Washington (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said yesterday he will call his Senate Investigations subcommittee together today and invite its members to decide whether they want to pass judgment on his bitter fight with the Army.

The meeting will be held behind closed doors, McCarthy announced, and there will be no witnesses called.

The Wisconsin senator rejected suggestions by two leading Republican colleagues that he cancel speaking engagements this week and let the controversy be brought to a quick showdown.

"There will be no hearing Wednesday, Thursday or Friday," McCarthy said. "I intend to continue speaking whenever there is an important message I believe ought to be brought to the public attention."

Today's meeting is a sort of "where-do-we-go-from-here" session, at which members of the subcommittee apparently will decide whether to conduct a full scale inquiry on their own or leave the job to another senate body.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP Senate leader, commented that while he can't tell other senators what to do he thought the row between McCarthy and the Army's civilian leadership deserves "priority over all matters."

Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) took the same position, saying "a senator must never let public speaking engagements and things of a semi-private nature interfere" with his public duties. Dirksen is a member of the subcommittee.

Ten Refugees Flee Hungary

Vienna, Austria (AP) — Ten Hungarian refugees, half starved and frostbitten, have escaped to Austria after a journey half way across Hungary highlighted by a gunfight with Communist police. U. S. officials revealed yesterday.

The six men, three women and a child of five, took a week for their journey from Budapest. Of ten cold and bogged in mud, the band was discovered three times in its flight, but each time managed to escape.

Officials of the U. S. escape program reported these details:

The 10 have been under American care since they reached Vienna last week. Their names were withheld to protect relatives in Hungary.

The band moved at night and hid in farm haystacks most of the days.

The three women and the child developed frostbitten feet and had to be assisted or carried by the men. The party had nothing to eat for the last two days.

The gun fight occurred March 2, when police stumbled on the party in the dark near the town of Ostfayasszonya.

Postmaster Nominations Are Made

Charges Project Unsound, Unfair To Most Taxpayers

By Ed Creagh

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower blasted the Democrats' cut-the-income-tax proposals last night as unsound, politically motivated and unfair to the great majority of taxpayers.

Declaring such cuts would be "a serious blow to your government," the President told a nationwide radio and television audience:

"In your interest I must and will oppose such an unsound tax proposal."

Primary Fight Developed By Petitioners

Harrisburg (AP) — The deadline for filing nomination petitions for the May 18 primary expired last night with six candidates — three Republicans and three Democrats — in the race for governor.

Thomas S. Stephenson, Altoona, president of the Pennsylvania Home Rule Assn., made it a three-way fight for the GOP gubernatorial nomination by entering the contest late in the day.

Other last-day filings for statewide offices included Mrs. Gaynelle M. Dixon, Butler, organization-backed candidate for the Republican nomination for secretary of internal affairs, and Peter Elish, Washington County commissioner, for the Democratic nomination for the same post.

The contest for three Republican nominations for the State Superior Court expanded to nine persons.

Filing on the last day were Judge George W. Griffith of Cambria County; Sen. Murray Peeler (R-Indiana); Wilhelm F. Knauer, Philadelphia; Morgan H. Sohn, Beaver R. D. 1, and former Judge Ralph T. Bell of Allegheny County.

The statewide petition, subject to withdrawals between now and next Monday:

Governor: Republican — Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood, Collegeville R. D. 2; Gordon F. Chamberlin, Paxinos R. D. 1, Northumberland County, and Thomas S. Stephenson, Altoona.

Democratic — Sen. George M. Leader (D-York); Charles J. Schmitt, Girard, Erie County, and Dr. William D. McClelland, Pittsburgh.

Lieutenant governor: Republican — Atty. Gen. Frank F. Truscott, Philadelphia, and William R. McMillen, Black Lick, Indiana County.

Democratic — Roy E. Furman, Waynesburg.

Secretary of internal affairs: Republican — Incumbent, William Livengood Jr., Somerset and Mrs. Gaynelle M. Dixon, Butler.

Democratic — Genevieve Blatt, Pittsburgh, and Peter Elish, Canonsburg.

Superior Court (three to be elected):

Knauer, Philadelphia; Ralph T. Bell, Pittsburgh; Morgan H. Sohn, Beaver R. D. 1; Judge George W. Griffith of Cambria County, and Sen. Murray D. Peeler (R-Indiana).

Democratic — Rhodes, Ross and Woodside.

Railroads Slash Fare

Pittsburgh (AP) — The Pennsylvania and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroads are going to make about one-third reductions in round-trip coach fares between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and Baltimore-Washington beginning April 15.

The railroads jointly announced their experimental plan yesterday. It ends Sept. 30. Spokesmen for both firms said:

"We are introducing these low fares experimentally in an effort to get more passengers on the trains."

The new round-trip fares also will apply to trips between Pittsburgh and principal intermediate points. All return trips must be made within 30 days of the purchase of the ticket. Children under 12 years of age can travel at half the reduced fare.

He entered his fire on Democratic moves, beginning with a bill that comes up in the House Wednesday, to raise income tax exemptions. House Democrats want an increase from $600 to $700. There is a movement among Senate Democrats to make even more of a taxpayer's income tax-free.

Actually, Eisenhower declared, "The nation as a whole continues to be prosperous" despite unemployment in some places, and conditions "at this time do not call for an emergency program that would justify larger federal deficits and further inflation through large additional tax reductions."

Surprising even some of his own staff members, the President made no criticism of last week's action by the House in cutting excise taxes by some 900 million dollars. He had opposed this cut and administration leaders have voiced hope the Senate would try to reduce it.

Eisenhower said he's as strong for cutting taxes "at the right time" as anybody, and he said his administration has slashed or is about to slash almost seven billion dollars from the national tax bill.

The Democrats disputed this. House Democratic Leader Rayburn, slated to make a formal reply on radio and TV tomorrow night, said five of the seven billions in tax reductions were voted by the Democrats before Eisenhower took office.

One of the President's main arguments against raising the income tax exemption was that this would free millions of Americans from paying any tax and shift the burden to the rest of the taxpayers.

"I simply don't believe for one second," he said, "that anyone privileged to live in this country wants someone else to pay his own fair and just share of the cost of his government."

Plainly, the President was irked at those people he termed "professionally faint-hearted" — those who "have been arguing lately that we are on the very brink of economic disaster."

There's politics involved here, too, Eisenhower said, and he reaffirmed what he told Congress a month ago that the country can go from wartime to peacetime conditions "without serious economic trouble."

"Nothing has happened since to change my mind," said the President.

Eisenhower said his administration has done everything that can be done safely to reduce the cost of government. To make any large additional savings, he said, would mean "seriously weakening our national defense." And he added:

"The only other way to make more tax cuts now is to have bigger and bigger deficits and to borrow more and more money. Either we or our children will have to bear the burden of this debt. This is one kind of chicken that always comes home to roost."

The Democrats' reply to Eisenhower will be made today by Sam Rayburn of Texas, Democratic House leader. Rayburn said the Democratic National Committee has arranged for 15 minutes of free television time at 9 p.m. EST Tuesday and had asked him to present the minority party's views.

Rayburn said he will share the time with Sen. George (D-Ga.) senior Democrat on the Senate finance Committee, and Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn.) of the House Ways and Means Committee.

George is pushing a Senate move to raise the individual tax exemption first to $800 and later to $1,000 a year. House Democrats are trying to raise the exemptions to $700 in a tax overhaul bill which comes up for action Wednesday.

We're Headed-Weaponwise?

By Andrew R. Boone
Central Press Correspondent

Washington — Where are we headed—weaponwise?

First we need a definition. A weapon is an instrument of combat, together with all functioning equipment, the skill necessary to operate same, and the vast supporting facilities and skills required.

Top brass doesn't know exactly where we are going. For that reason, the Defense department operates a division called Research and Development.

General direction can be forecast. Turn to one of the best qualified experts for a forecast. He is Maj. Gen. James McCormack, Jr., vice commander of the Air Research and Development Command.

"Airpower," General McCormack tells you, "is going to be continuously more atomic, in its many aspects. The miracles that have happened thus far during the first dozen, brief years of the atomic age are only the beginning. They have not all been American miracles, nor will they all be our own miracles in the future."

"Military air vehicles are going to move on out into the supersonic regime, to speeds many times that of sound."

"Weapons will continue to become more and more automatic in operation, through the use of electronic, sonic, infrared and other techniques."

"We who practice the military art will be governed ever more forcefully in our thinking and action by considerations not just of weapons but of weapons systems."

Consider this last point!

"The relationship between the design of an airplane and the design of its engine," says General McCormack, "has now become fundamental and vital as we move into the supersonic regime."

"The armament system also now presents as one single problem the performance demanded of the vehicle and the performance which must be built into the armament, including its fire control equipment."

"Further, the requirements for performance of the fire control system in the aircraft are intimately related to the capabilities of the ground based electronic system which directs the aircraft to the vicinity of the target."

"In the total air defense system, the fact is that no important element can be juggled without juggling the whole system. No proposed new weapon or other component can be judged on its merits alone; it must be looked at in conjunction with dozens of other requirements."

Successful creation of a new system, General McCormack emphasizes, demands that we know clearly what it is that is wanted.

Pilots at Edwards Air Force Base Test Center in California have rolled up thousands of hours testing this candy-nose F-86 Sabre jet. Instruments in boom and nose tell how plane behaves.

"We must also have," he tells you, "largely in hand, at the time the new system is decided upon, the basic technical knowledge and much of the actual work of component development necessary for the system."

"Development planning has to predict both the progress of free-world science and the capabilities and intentions of a potential enemy who is a past master at obscurity—for five, 10 or more years in the future."

"It has to consider national objectives, intelligence estimates, war plans, industrial trends—and cracks in the crystal ball."

Today the nation finds itself in the early stages of a military art that's fast developing. Within the foreseeable future, man no longer will fly aircraft over a target. Automatic devices will take over.

Another forecast: during the next few years we will have supersonic weapons of long range and great accuracy against which an adequate defense cannot now be visualized.

Meantime, what about our own defenses? Air attack obviously holds the greatest threat.

"The ground environment for the defenses of the United States," says General McCormack, "is being improved and will continue to be improved through the years immediately ahead."

"Current inventory of first line interceptors is being built around high sub-sonic all-weather types. As bomber performance improves, so also must the performance of air defense weapons. The detaining F-102 will constitute a major step into the supersonic region for interceptors."

"Air-to-air rockets, including guided rockets, will become standard interceptor armament and ground-to-air missiles are well along in various stages of development."

"The end result will be much like that which has evolved in the telephone system. Dialing San Francisco from Washington is a tremendously complicated operation technically, but the customer is hardly aware of it. So also in the air defense system, when it is similarly perfected, the user will be generally unaware of the complicated operations going on in his behalf."

What the planners are aiming at is an enormously potent defense operated by fewer and fewer people—one that will discourage an enemy from making more than a single pass at continental United States.

Air Force To Run Own Recruiting

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson has authorized the Air Force to take over July 1 full control and operation of its own recruiting system, which it now shares with the Army.

The Air Force has for some time been substantially below the manpower strength provided for under the budgetary ceiling and authorized by the Defense Department as part of the projected program to expand organizational strength to an eventual goal of 137 wings.

Recent drops in enlistment and reenlistment have cut Air Force manpower so sharply officials have had to think of the possibility of drafting men.

St. Patrick's Day Brings Out Everybody's Irish; Makes The Green Greener

By James B. Gaffney

Everybody gets into the act tomorrow—St. Patty's Day.

Nationalities get the brush-off as everyone, regardless of their family name spelling, recalls some distant relative who came from Ireland and the Kelly Green ties, shoelaces, shirts and hats flourish like Rockefeller dimes.

But the real Irisher doesn't need the emerald flag waving in a March 17 breeze—he's got the map all over his face, and the blarney on his tongue.

In New York tomorrow the boys and girls from County Cork will carry their shillelaghs high. Green beer will flow like the waters of Killarney and even the semi-invalid will toss aside their canes to jig-it-up.

Even the weather changes on the Feast of St. Patrick, the Irish claim. Temperature climbs, palm trees spring out of the snow and green bikini bathing suits are the order of the day.

As early as March 1 the Irish start livin' it up. On every corner they're telling the joke about Pat and Mike.

Like the old one about the pair walking through the New York market after getting of the boat straight from the Emerald shores. Mike picks up a grapefruit and says to Pat "Begorra Pat, look at the size of the lemons over here." And Pat answers "Sure'n it wouldn't take many of them to make a dozen."

But tomorrow's the day for the Ancient Order of Hibernians and all allied societies. And woe to the Orangeman who mocks the Irish green. There'll be no shenanigans to be sure.

Half the U. S. men who reach the age 65 this year will live 12 years longer.

McCarthy had notified Murrow he would be willing to appear either March 23 or April 6 on the CBS television show "See It Now," to reply to charges Murrow made against the Wisconsin Republican. McCarthy said he would prefer April 6.

In his acceptance McCarthy charged Murrow had in the past "consciously served the Communist cause."

Murrow's reply to McCarthy said that "I deny this utterly" and added:

"The record when it is finished will show who has served the Communist cause, you or I."

And so like the Irishman who will wear his green colors proudly, Marine Corps Recruiters across the nation will join him in honoring Saint Patrick.

Dale H. Larn, vice chairman of the industrial development committee for the Chamber, reported at a committee meeting preceding the Chamber session that a building will be available for the new industry.

Policeman Is Shot By His Son

Bethlehem — Corp. Chester V. Cuddy, 49, trooper for 26 years with State Police, was wounded seriously in his apartment 207 Fairview St. here at the climax of what police here said was a family quarrel.

Police said Cuddy was shot with a 22 rifle held by his son David, 13. The officer's wife the former Dorothy Pfeiffer, 40, and two children, Caroline, ten and Kathleen, eight, witnessed the shooting, police said.

Police said Cuddy walked downstairs after the shooting and refused to go to the hospital in an ambulance which had been called. He was placed in the ambulance and taken to St. Luke's Hospital.

Hospital authorities reported the bullet went through his heart muscles and lodged in the spine. Questioned by police, Mrs. Cuddy, daughter of former Mayor Robert Pfeiffer of Bethlehem said Cuddy had been drinking during the day and argued with her.

After her husband left, Mrs. Cuddy was quoted by police as saying she ordered David to load the gun. He put in three shells and put it in a closet, police said.

Cuddy, she told police, returned home at 10:15 Sunday, grabbed her arm, and she pulled away. She said she told her son "Do what I told you to do this afternoon". The boy, she said, got the gun and while ten feet away fired once from the hip.

Mrs. Cuddy said she did not intend that the boy should shoot. She said she meant for him to give the gun to her.

Hospital Is Accredited For 14th Time

The General Hospital of Monroe County has been again placed on the fully accredited hospital list by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. It was announced last night.

Recognized for the first in 1941, the hospital has received the annual approval of the Commission, Harry Smith, superintendent reported.

The Commission gave full accreditation to 2,920 hospitals and provisional accreditation to 498. There are about 7,500 hospitals in the country.

Supported by the American College of Physicians, the American College of Surgeons, the American Hospital Association, the American Medical Association and the Canadian Medical Association, the Commission is directed by Dr. Edwin L. Crosby. Headquarters are in Chicago.

Designed to improve the standards of hospital care through a system of evaluation, the Joint Commission applies certain basic principles of organization and administration for efficient care of the patient, Dr. Crosby said.

It also promotes high quality of medical and hospital care in all its aspects to give patients the greatest benefits that medical science can offer. And promotes the maintenance of essential diagnostic and therapeutic service through organized medical staffs and governing boards of the hospital.

Before a hospital can be accredited, Dr. Crosby said, the Commission must determine that it has safe and adequate physician plant; that its governing board is properly organized; that its medical staff is fully organized; that clinical reviews are held; that all tissue removed in operation is reviewed to determine adequacy and justification of surgical work, and that medical records be made promptly, and preserved.

John C. Litts Announces He Will Seek Reelection As School Superintendent

John C. Litts announced last night he will seek his third consecutive term as superintendent of Monroe County Schools on Tuesday, April 13 when the annual school directors meeting is held at the Court House at 8 p. m.

Native of Bushkill, Litts was graduated from Stroudsburg High and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. He later took graduate work at Bucknell University and began his teaching career in a one-room school at Readers in 1922.

Following elementary teaching positions in Mount Pocono and Tannersville, Litts became principal of Mount Pocono borough school. Later he served three years as high school principal in Moscow, marking the only period he performed outside Monroe County as a school official.

Litts was named elementary school principal in Stroudsburg and after nine years in that role was elected on July, 1946 to the office as superintendent of Monroe County Schools. He was reelected in 1950.

During Litts' tenure in office 20 one-room schools have been closed in Monroe County and new consolidated buildings erected in Hamilton and Eldred Townships. A six-room addition also was built at Clearview School in Stroud Township. Only one single-room school remains in the county—in Tunkhannock Township.

Litts said he already has filed his notice of intention to seek reelection with Harry J. Drennan, county school board secretary.

Expected to attend the April 13 meeting are directors from the 16 townships and three boroughs which make up the county school districts. All schools but those in Stroudsburg borough are supervised from the county headquarters.

Litts paid tribute to the cooperation of district directors and to Walter W. Sebring, assistant county superintendent in his announcement.

Slate Belt Jointure Is Studied

Bangor — Some 90 people attended an informal dinner at Colonial Hotel here last night as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Korn of Washington Township.

Korn is president of Bangor Mills Inc. Area school directors were invited to the affair to "get them together and give them a chance to hear what a few other people thought of the idea of a jointure."

Present were board members from Bangor, Upper and Lower Mount Bethel Township, Washington Township, Roseto.

Main speaker was Rev. Dr. Floyd Shafer, Tatamy, president of Northampton County School Board since 1938, and a member of that board since 1911.

He urged the directors to consider "more seriously the benefits that a jointure would have." He said he didn't see how anyone could "pass by such a reality" which he defined as the joining of school boards to promote a better educational system and to provide better educational facilities.

Robert N. Taylor, Northampton County school superintendent, said the State has approved "an administrative unit," the area now considering jointure.

Elmer Sayer, chairman of the jointure steering committee, and a member of Upper Mount Bethel's board, acted as toastmaster. He announced a meeting of the steering committee at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at Bangor High School.

On the agenda is election of a vice-chairman and the naming of the proposed joint area district.

The Korn said the reason they had called the meeting was that they had been inspired by hearing children at a forum discussing why they wanted a jointure.

Mine Water Dumping Gets New Set Back

Washington (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland said yesterday he had been assured the federal Interior Department would not back a long-standing proposal to dump Pennsylvania mine water into the Susquehanna River through a tunnel.

He said this to reporters after a meeting with Interior officials. Assistant Secretary of Interior Wormser told McKeldin and others at the open meeting the Interior Department's present leadership has not taken an official position on the proposed project.

He indicated, however, he did not think the proposal will be backed by the present administration. He told the delegation an outstanding engineer in the department had made an off-hand estimate that such a 137-mile tunnel would cost around 400 million dollars.

"We have been trying to carry out a congressional mandate voted in 1945 to study the feasibility of draining the anthracite mine," Wormser said. "We have taken no position on this. We have been studying the practicality of the proposal."

Wormser added that about one million dollars has been spent on the engineering studies and it was brought out that the problem has been under study by the Bureau of Mines for 13 years.

McKeldin was accompanied by Sens. Beall and John M. Butler and Rep. Edward T. Miller, all Maryland Republicans, and by a group of Maryland state officials and scientists.

All who spoke contended that if published reports are true, that it is proposed to dump acid mine water into the Susquehanna below the dam at Conowingo, Md., the marine and plant life in Chesapeake Bay would be in danger.

McKeldin, Beall, Butler and Miller all described the bay as the state's greatest natural resource.

The governor said he was "alarmed over the proposal" and added that the dumping would "kill all our oysters."

Butler said the proposal involved spending "a half billion dollars to save the anthracite industry and destroy Maryland."

Toll Roads In Comeback As States Find A Profit

Here's U. S. turnpike picture as of today.

By Central Press
Philadelphia — The toll road, which came into being in America in colonial days and then faded into oblivion except for a few backwoods lanes, apparently is making a comeback in a big financial way, especially in the eastern United States.

Confidence in financial success of toll roads stems from success of the Pennsylvania turnpike, of course. That 327-mile stretch cost some $240 million to build, prewar prices.

Even during wartime gasoline rationing, enough was collected to meet bond obligations. For the year ending May 31, 1953, it grossed more than $21 million. One 24-hour period it took in $95,000.

Those figures plus the rosy New Jersey turnpike picture perhaps influenced the Ohio turnpike commission to predict financial success for the Ohio turnpike, which actually is an extension of the Pennsylvania.

The Turnpike will run across the northern part of the state, skirting Cleveland. Also, plans for Cincinnati-Conneaut and Cincinnati-Toledo toll roads are in the making.

As for the 118-mile New Jersey turnpike, its traffic in mid-1953 was running two and one-half times original estimates. So they're building another, called the Garden State parkway, 165 miles north-south.

A $285 million bond issue is financing the Garden State project.

and traffic studies reportedly indicate a revenue of more than $13 million the first year.

Longest superhighway of them all, when finished, will be the 500-mile New York State thruway, New York City-Albany-Buffalo. It's a $500 million strip, and is expected to pull in $25 million its first year of operation.

Use of these superhighways by both trucks and passenger cars indicates a thorough popularity, so the toll road idea has taken hold.

Indiana sold $218 million worth of bonds last December to continue the Ohio turnpike to Gary, within hollering distance of Chicago. When Ohio and Indiana get their toll roads finished, the motor vehicle will have a turnpike stretching almost from the east coast to Chicago.

A good many others are either in existence or projected. There's a 17-mile in use from Denver, Colo., to Boulder, Colo., and an 88-mile runs from Oklahoma City, Okla., to Tulsa, Okla.

There is a short one planned for Georgia, and another from Jacksonville, Fla., to Miami, Fla.

Another is planned from Denton, Tex., up through Oklahoma to Wichita and Topeka, Kan., and across to St. Louis and back south to Oklahoma again. Wisconsin has authorized one from the Twin Cities area to the Illinois line near Chicago.

Who pays for all this? The motorist, public, from a cent to five cents a mile.

Million In State Aid For Sewers

Harrisburg (AP)—R. Hoffert, Sanitary Water Board chief engineer, estimated yesterday it will cost less than a million dollars to provide state aid for local sewage treatment plants in 1954.

The program originally estimated costs for 1954 would be about two million dollars.

Hoffert said there is a total of $987,000 called for this year in applications from some 120 municipalities pay for sewage treatment plants built since Sept. 1, 1937, under the state's clean streams program.

"That should leave us enough money to defray a large part of the cost of the state subsidies in 1955 if the program is continued by the next legislature," Hoffert said.

Communities had until Jan. 31 to file applications for state aid. The applications are being studied by the board in preparation for mailing of checks after July 1.

Applications for aid this year listed $49,362,691 in construction costs for plants built since 1937.

A board spokesman said 25 million dollars in additional construction will be completed this year.

Late applications have been put aside for action in 1955 when subsidies are expected to total about 1½ million dollars.

If a similar appropriation is continued by future legislatures, all costs of construction can be liquidated by state aid alone in 50 years.

A breakdown of individual amounts asked by municipalities will not be available until figures are checked here and then confirmed with local officials, the board said.

Municipalities or their municipality authorities that have filed for state aid include:

Catawissa, Columbia County; Everett, Bedford, Danville, Waynesburg, South Connellsville, Martinsburg, Williamsburg, Bloomsburg; Altoona; Uniontown; Roaring Spring, Blair County.

$11,000 Reward Money In Wable Case Big Question Mark For Many Involved

Pittsburgh (AP)—The conviction of John Wesley Wable for a phantom slaying on the Pennsylvania Turnpike still leaves one question unanswered.

Who will get the $11,000 in reward money offered for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer?

The Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. and the AFL International Teamsters Union offered $5,000 each. Continental Transportation Lines, Inc., put up an additional $1,000.

But so many persons had a part in Wable's apprehension that the organizations just don't know who will get how much or when. Everyone from the Cleveland pawn shop manager who spotted a watch of one of the victims to the New Mexico state policemen who nabbed Wable are in line for the money.

Milton E. Harris, president of Continental Transportation, said:

"It looks to me as if this whole thing is going to have to be litigated. I think that legally we would have to wait until all the appeals by Wable through the courts are disposed of."

Harris said he turned over Continental's $1,000 reward to Dist. Atty. James F. Malone of Allegheny County last year for eventual distribution to the deserving persons.

But Malone has no idea who will get the money.

"I just don't know yet," Malone said.

A jury convicted 24-year-old Wable of Ohio, Pa., last Saturday of first degree murder and fixed the death penalty. He was convicted of the slaying of Harry F. Pitts, 39, of Bowling Green, Va. Wable also was charged with shooting to death another trucker and wounding a third.

In seconds, he'll be home... by telephone

Now you can usually measure in seconds the time required to reach a distant telephone. It used to take anywhere from 10 minutes to half an hour, or even more, before the operator could complete a call across the country.

How did this improvement come about? Through ceaseless research that produced hundreds of new developments, each of which had to pass these two difficult test questions:

1. Would it improve the quality of telephone service?
2. Would it aid in keeping costs under control?

We'll never stop using those two tests, because there will always be new problems to meet in our determination to give you constantly better telephone service at the lowest possible cost.

School Plant Expansion Needs Told

While the Stroudsburg school system is maintaining relatively small class loads and carrying on a successful activity program under handicaps, the time has come when something must be done to create more space on both the elementary and high school level, and within the next year or two, Earl Groner, superintendent of the Stroudsburg Schools, last night told the meeting of the Stroudsburg Parent-Teachers Association in a meeting in the high school auditorium.

"At the present time we are using every bit of space," he said, "to its fullest capacity." The sounds of the basketball game going on in the gymnasium across the hall emphasized this point.

Beginning with the elementary school, Mr. Groner said that while the most important thing in the school system is the teacher, that teacher should have classes of reasonable size, materials with which to work, and place for their activities.

With the exception of two first grade classes in the Ramsey school and the second and third grades in the Morry, the classes have been held to the low 20s, he said. However, some building will have to be done within the next year to hold those gains, he said.

In addition, he said that the Morry school lacks play space, and lunch room space, and is poorly located from a safety standpoint for young children—including many who must come over from the South Side.

The secondary school population now stands at 744, he said, and the overcrowding is more serious than it was seven years ago when the school population was 765. He explained the apparent population in the fact of the diversified curriculum with the addition of the general course, the vocational home economics, the vocational agriculture courses, the former academic and commercial courses, and the stress on small classes. Seven years ago, he pointed out, classes of 40 were the rule, while today classes in major subjects are held to the low 20s, which means that the gym classes, study hall and library is flooded.

The school is doing a good job of training the student in mental progress and physical dexterity, but there is a growing realization that to be a good citizen students need also to be taught the proper emotional stability, he said. This means classes must remain small to enable teachers to work with the student as an individual.

He praised the work of the staff in working willingly in spite of handicaps, and of the board of education, which had never refused any improvement within its power, when the need was apparent.

The immediate needs he listed as a new gymnasium apart from the classrooms where an inter-mural program could be developed. At present, the girls are limited to one night a week in the gym, he said. Second, the shop must be taken out of the cellar where dampness and inadequate room are constant handicaps. Third, while the music program has advanced in spite of having no music room, it poses a definite problem for practice and individual lessons. Fourth, the library could be used to much greater advantage with more space. Above all, he listed the need of adequate lunch room facilities.

These things must come, he predicted, and told the parents and teachers that he would soon be calling on them for help in drafting a better program for better schools.

William Clark presided at the business session when a nominating committee was elected from the floor. A. W. Munson, Mrs. Merlin Rutt and Mrs. Parke Kunkle. The fathers of the PTA served refreshments.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

There are more exciting times in your lives than the week of your Junior play, I suppose. But you'd have a hard time proving that to the juniors at Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg and Pocomo this week.

There've been dance recitals, of course, and piano recitals, and Children's Day recitals, and forensics, and school entertainments, but all of them just preliminary to this big, important event.

Real scenery—real costumes—a real audience that's paying real money to see it. For a month, they've been living, eating, sleeping and dreaming their parts. And this is it. If each one were the star of a new production opening on Broadway, the weight of their responsibility couldn't be a bit heavier.

What if I get the measles. Wonder if I lose my voice. Supposing I come in on the wrong cue. Wonder if nobody comes.

Of course, the fact that the audience will be composed of doting parents ready to see a Barrymore in every gesture, and of indulgent friends prepared to be amused as much by the mishaps as by the perfections doesn't ease their worry a bit.

We may smile, but isn't there a bit of longing there, too? There is a bit of magic in caring so terribly about anything. Mind-sight and foresight blunt the edge of heartache but they blunt the edge of rapture, too.

—Listen To Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:15 a.m.

Clubman Held For Attack On Photographer

Pittsburgh (AP)—Frank Phillips of nearby New Kensington was held for federal grand jury action yesterday on a charge of assaulting a news photographer who tried to snap his photograph in the Federal Building.

Phillips, owner of the Aluminum City Club in New Kensington, was held for court by U. S. Commissioner Harold Lavine and released on $1,000 bond.

He is charged with attacking Paul Hunter of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph last Wednesday. Phillips had just finished posting bond on a federal indictment charging him with corrupting elections when Hunter tried to take the photo.

Hunter testified that Phillips knocked him to the floor. Robert W. Schwartz, a Pittsburgh Press reporter, said Phillips charged Hunter and hurled a body blow, knocking him down.

Phillips' attorney, Paul McCormick of Greensburg, declared that his client was justified in using any force necessary to prevent the taking of his photo.

Supreme Court Upholds Giving Away Off-Shore Oil; Turns Down War Question

Washington (AP)—The Supreme Court upheld yesterday the Eisenhower-backed Submerged Lands Act which ceded oil-rich off-shore lands to coastal states.

A brief, unsigned opinion said the Constitution gives Congress unlimited power over the public lands.

And, the opinion added, it is not for the courts to say how that trust shall be administered.

Yesterday's decision came just before the court recessed until April 5 without giving any hint when it might make its ruling on the hotly controversial question of racial segregation in public schools.

Chief Justice Warren, former governor of California, disqualified himself in the submerged lands case. Justice Black and Douglas read sharply dissenting opinions.

Thus the court rejected by a vote of 6-2 requests by Alabama and Rhode Island for permission to file suit against four other states—Texas, California, Louisiana and Florida. The latter four states are expected to get the lion's share of benefits from the 1953 law.

Justice Reed agreed with the majority but wrote a separate opinion amplifying his views.

Black said the majority's decision left him in doubt whether the high court would sustain the right of Congress to sell the Mississippi River or any of the other great navigable rivers of this country.

Douglas took note of earlier Supreme Court decisions, before the Submerged Land Act, which held the United States had "paramount right" to the lands.

"Today powerful political forces are marshalled for the benefit of a favored few," Douglas wrote. "But those decisions were sound in constitutional theory and they should stand."

The 1953 Submerged Land Act was one of President Eisenhower's first legislative proposals to become law. It was an issue in the 1952 presidential election.

Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore), who led what amounted to a filibuster against the legislation, told the Senate yesterday's decision upheld his point that the submerged lands belonged to the federal government and not to the coastal states.

"In my opinion this was not a giveaway that was in the best interests of the people as a whole," Morse said, adding he'd be glad to make repeal of the law a 1954 campaign issue.

Representatives of the coastal states, however, were jubilant.

In another action yesterday the Supreme Court refused for the second time to rule on whether the Korean conflict was a war.

The issue was raised by the widow of an Army officer killed in an accident in Alaska in August, 1951. He had an insurance policy with a provision that benefits would not be paid if a policyholder was killed in an accident while in the armed services in time of war.

The Texas Supreme Court, ruling against the widow's claim for payment, said: "It is clear that there was a war, in fact, in Korea when the insured was killed and that he was killed in time of war."

The Supreme Court last October refused to review a decision of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court that the Korean conflict was not a war in the legal sense.

Yesterday the high court ruled, 4-3, that the Federal Water Power Act of 1920 did not abolish rights granted private companies under state law to use waters of navigable streams to generate power.

The decision specifically applied to a dispute between FPC and the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp., operator of a hydroelectric project at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

He was committed to the county jail in default of payment of a $10 fine and $5 costs. State police said he was driving at 60 miles an hour.

N. Y. Central Rules Out Compromise

New York (AP)—The New York Central Railroad will meet the assault of Robert R. Young headon by putting all 15 members of its present board of directors up for re-election, William White, Central's president said yesterday.

The disclosure ruled out the possibility of a compromise in the battle for control of the two-billion-dollar rail empire—and last week each side was accusing the other of trying to do just that.

Young has focused much of his fire on the composition of the Central's board, accusing it of being "banker-dominated" because of its four prominent banker directors.

White divulged the news about the management slate in a question-and-answer session following his address yesterday to the New York Society of Security Analysts.

Ordinarily, the exact composition of the opposing slates would not be financially disclosed until proxy statements are made public and the railroad normally mails these out 45 days in advance of the annual meeting which this year is on May 26.

Young has announced 8 of his 15 candidates thus far.

Charles Loney Addresses Adventists

"Heaven," was the subject chosen Sunday night at the Stroudsburg Seventh-day Adventist church, by the speaker Charles E. Loney, as he continued his lectures on Bible Prophecy.

Mr. Loney began his remarks by enlarging upon the three heavens: I—"The Atmospheric Heaven," where our snow, and rain come from and where the birds wing their flight. II—"The stellar heaven," where the sun, moon and stars were placed the fourth day of creation. III—"Paradise, where God's throne is located.

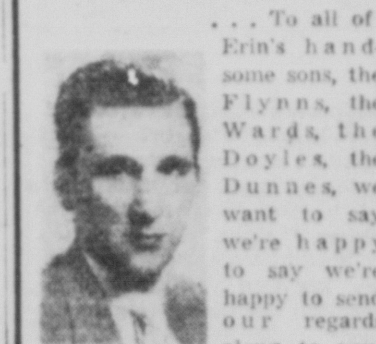

Mr. Loney answered the questions: where is heaven? what is it like? will we know each other there? He gave positive Bible proof of every statement made and pictured heaven as a most wonderful and beautiful place where sorrow, sickness, pain or death shall never enter. He said: "surely this is a place worth striving for," and declared, "heaven will be cheap at any price."

In conclusion, Mr. Loney said, the only thing ever to remind us of sin in the earth made new will be the scars in the head, hands and feet of Jesus.

Mrs. Sophie Lawton, of Easton was guest soloist. "Where are the dead," was the subject announced for discussion next Sunday night.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY

Ralph O. Burrows, principal of East Stroudsburg High school, was a member of District 11 committee that ordered a fine of $250 be levied against Allentown High. The Canaries were found guilty of breaking what the district terms a "black and white" ruling which states: Once a floor is determined, no practices to be permitted without permission of the district committee. When an opponent has played on a floor, the district committee allows a practice.

Allentown practiced at Muhlenberg College's Field House on two occasions, prior to their clash with Slatington, which the latter won, 63-56. By a "black and white" ruling, the district committee refers to a printed playoff regulation which in turn is presented to all coaches taking part in the post season Pennsylvania Interscholastic Association playoffs. Milo Sowards and Clifford Bartholomew, basketball coach and principal at Allentown High, practiced at Muhlenberg under the belief that it was legal because of the fact that Slatington had already taken part in two playoff games on the court.

The committee pointed out that Slatington hadn't lodge a complaint, although H. B. Snyder, Slatington principal, was called to the Palmerton meeting to clarify his school's practice habits of late Slatington, contrary to rumors, proved it hadn't practiced on the Muhlenberg court, but did rent the Moravian College Field House for three practice sessions at a total cost of $75. The meeting was carried out behind closed doors at Palmerton High school. Allentown certainly has its troubles for a school that has been through the mill time and time again.

A former Monroe County resident won the diving championship in the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Association in Saturday, during a meet held in the Lehigh University pool. The former area resident who gained the spring-board title is Ronnie Kinghold, former resident of Blakeslee and Pocono Lake, Ronnie, who now lives in Trenton, is a sophomore at Lehigh at the present time.

Stroudsburg's basketball game with Bangor next December 10th will definitely be on the W. Main St. court. It was at first listed for Bangor, but a switch was made so as to make the 1954-1955 schedule of the Mountaineers a more evenly balanced list. Although Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg are definitely slated to play baseball on Wednesday, April 21, the field on which the game is to be played remains up in the air. Baseball season opens with a game between the two neighboring rivals and next year's basketball slate will open under similar circumstances.

Yet, authorities of both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High schools admit that moving the annual football clash to the final date of the season was a great move and improved the rivalry. But, baseball and basketball outings have been advanced to opening dates. What goes? Ananink, now scheduled to play its home baseball games at Henders this coming season, would have liked to use the Tannersville field. But, the two clubs couldn't reach an agreement. This move may add fuel to an already hot rivalry.

Harry Spittle, former Belvidere High athletic star, signed a contract with the Detroit Tigers on Sunday and will leave for Lakeland, Fla. on Wednesday, March 31. Sid Effross, principal of Blainstown High and a scout for the Tigers, brought about the actual signing. Effross reports that Harry, a straightpaw pitcher, linked a straight contract and will probably be assigned to Valdosta, of the class "D" Georgia-Florida League. Spittle will be remembered as a back for Belvidere High when that school played East Stroudsburg in football a few seasons back.

Two members of the Bangor High basketball team have only recently been discharged from hospitals. Wayne Pysher, high scoring guard, had surgery performed on a damaged nose at Allentown and was a patient there all of last week. He was discharged last weekend. Art "Bucky" Parsons, of football and basketball fame, was recently discharged from Easton Hospital, where he underwent an operation for a badly broken arm. The bones had to be screwed together. Parsons fell during a basketball exhibition at the third annual All-Sports Night held at Bangor High on Friday, March 5.

Mauch Chunk, Mountain League title holder that suffered a 69-63 loss to Coplay in the class "C" championship playoff tussle last Saturday, hasn't won a game at Slatington's Smith Hall since 1948, when the Chunks opened Slatington, 43-36. Coach Oscar "Ossie" Maehrer's Mauch Chunk cagers failed for the 19th year of searching for a District 11 class "C" championship. Several people from Stroudsburg will be on hand to-night when Slatington and Chester collide at Philadelphia's Penn Palestra.

City Cut Rate, Poconos Win In Gold Medal Battles

Newman's Five, Jack's Market Bow In Defeat

City Cut Rate and the Stroudsburg Poconos marched to the head of the class in the opening round of the Gold Medal Basketball Tournament at Stroudsburg High School last night.

The Cut Rate crew earned a hard fought victory over Newman's Dress Shop, while the veteran Poconos took Jack's Market into camp in the nightcap, 76-53.

Newman's club, made up for the most part of last season's Stroudsburg High quintet, fought the Cut Raters on even terms most of the way, but the group of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College students withstood a strong finish by Newman's quintet to win.

Nick Gatto, forward for the winning club, led the scoring parade with 26 points. Don Garavanti registered 10 in a losing cause, while Bill Carson and Karl Weingartner each came up with 13.

City Cut Rate made good on 11 of 23 free throws and Newman's club hit the mark on 17 of 32 attempts from the foul line.

Experience Decides

The Poconos used their depth of experience to down Jack's Market, a club composed entirely of last season's East Stroudsburg High varsity.

Jack's quintet was outscored in every quarter, although the outcome of the game was in doubt at halftime, although the Poconos were in front at that point, 44-29.

Henry "Hank" Stetler led the winning attack with 20 points, while Bob "Red" Kupiszewski's 16 tallies were tops for the Market quintet.

Jack's club made 17 of 36 foul shots, while the Poconos converted 18 of 32 charity tosses.

Two additional first round games will be played on the same court today. Stroudsburg Typewriter Co. and Pocono Gardens Lodge clash at 7 p.m., while Misses A. C. and Bachman's Oil battle in the nightcap, at 8:15 p.m.

Smith Resigns As Mountains League Official

Kunkletown—Clarence Smith's resignation as second vice president of the Pocono Mountains Baseball League highlighted one of the most eventful regular monthly meetings in the history of the circuit here at Greenzweig's Restaurant last night.

Smith, long associated with the circuit as a manager and official, announced his retirement as a league official due to the fact that his duties as manager of the Kunkletown entry didn't allow enough time to fill both offices.

A successor to Smith will be named at the next league meeting, it was announced by Clarence Getz, circuit president, who was in charge of last night's gathering.

Getz appointed Gilbert Overpeck, former Saylorburg player and manager, as the new circuit commissioner, succeeding Warren "Mac" Loney, who resigned the post after last season.

Henry Weiss was again named chairman of the trophy committee for the coming campaign and Walter Stem was appointed umpire-in-chief once again.

Eight of the 10 clubs were represented, and the group officially adopted a new list of by-laws recently drawn up by league officials. The new by-laws are reportedly stronger than in past years.

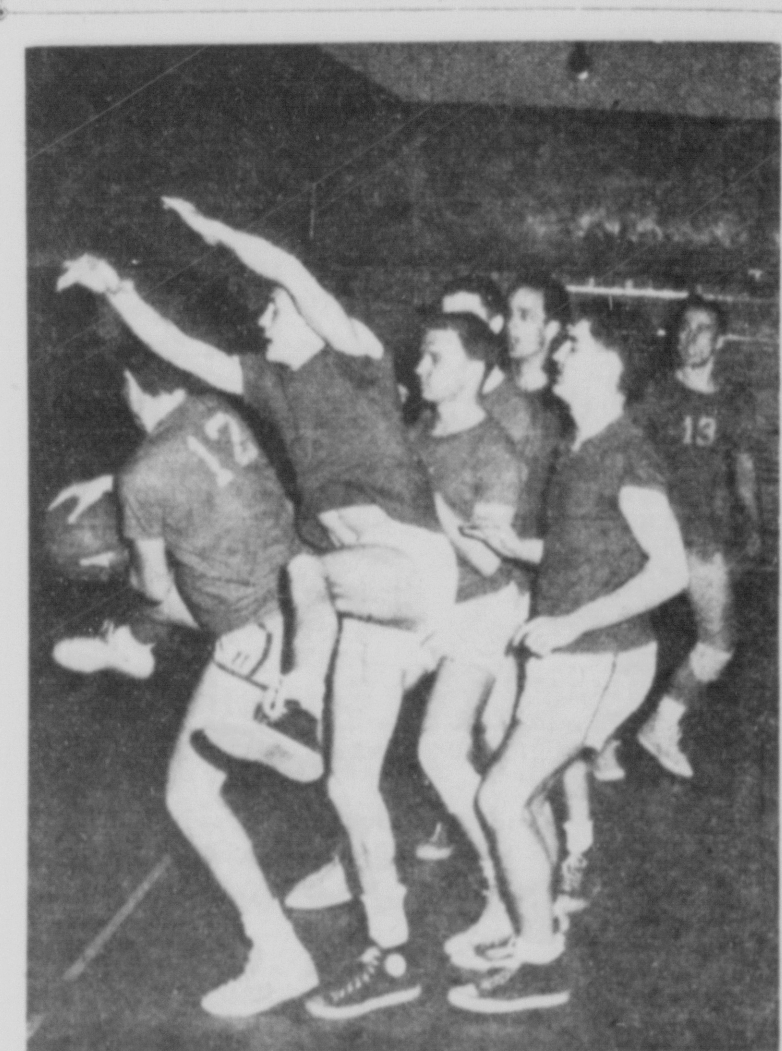

All team rosters must be in the hands of John Wernett, secretary of the loop, on or before Monday, April 19, at which time the next meeting will be held at the Stroud House, Ananink.

A special meeting of all league officials and a manager or representative of each club will be held on Tuesday, March 23, at 8 p. m. This gathering has been called to draw up a schedule for the 1954 campaign. Each club failing to have a representative present will be fined three dollars.

Members of the Blue Mountain Umpires Association will again tentative of each club will be held at the Pohopok Hotel, Effort, officiate all Pocono Mountains League baseball games during the coming season, it was agreed last night.

It was also reported that seven of the 10 teams in the league have paid their entry fees and that the other three organizations have agreed to have their admission money in the mail within the next 48 hours.

Lake Harmony and Pocono Lake were the teams not represented at last night's gathering.

WHO'S IN STEP?—Nick Gatto (12) and Ray Kaseman lead a dancing line formation in a battle for the ball in last night's Gold Medal Tournament basketball battle between City Cut Rate and Newman's Dress Shop. Although Gatto and Kaseman differ on the step, five other cagers are ready to join the formation. The list, from left to right, includes Warren Hoeffner, Karl Weingartner, Bill Carson, Guido Dietz and Jack Whittle. City Cut Rate won on to win, 71-65.

Williams Pharmacy Rallies To Decision Builders, 76-57

Pocono Pines—Williams Pharmacy put on a brilliant display of power in the last quarter last night to defeat I. B. Miller Builders, 76-57, and move into the final round of the Pocono Mountains Basketball League's post-season tournament. All games are being played here at the Tobyhanna Township High court.

Williams Pharmacy by winning over the Builders took over second place in the final standings of the circuit, while Miller's club wound up in the number three spot. The two clubs tied for second place at the end of the regular campaign and agreed to use last night's tussle for a double purpose.

The Pharmacy club broke a nip-and-tuck scrap wide open in the final round with one of the finest offensive displays of the current campaign, as the winning club came up with a 34-15 bulge in the scoring.

Deadlock

Each team featured 42 points at the three-quarter mark, but the Pharmacy five began to make its victory bid late in the third round, after trailing by a 27-24 mark at the halfway mark.

Williams Pharmacy, a club that made only eight of 20 foul shots, now tangles with the winner of Friday's Johnson's Diner-Gray's Chevrolet game. The championship battle is listed for next Monday.

The Builders made good on 15 of 21 charity tosses.

Tom Carroll, Williams Pharmacy center, led the scoring with 29 points, while Bob Miller and Paul Gravel, each with 11 counters, were tops for I. B. Miller.

Softball Loop Preparing For Night Games

Work began on a financial drive that will enable the Monroe County Softball League to play under the lights at Gordon Giffels Field this summer at a meeting of the circuit last night. The meeting was held at the Eagles Club.

Five of the six certain starters in the league were represented at the gathering. A deadline for entering the circuit was set for next Monday, at 7:30 p. m., at which time the league will hold another meeting. This gathering will also be at the Eagles.

Plans

Current plans call for a double-header to be played four nights each week at Giffels Field this season. One of the contests will be a twilight encounter and the other will be played under the lights.

Bruce Possinger, secretary of the circuit, presented a tentative schedule for the six certain starters.

Jack Mullins, president of the league, was in charge of last night's meeting.

Bantam Champ Earns Verdict

Brooklyn (3) — Nate Brooks, North American bantamweight champion from Cleveland, put on a dazzling exhibition last night to easily outpoint Henry "Pappy" Gault, Spartanburg, S. C., in a non-title 10-round bout at Eastern Parkway Arena. Brooks, a 3-1 favorite, weighed 118½ and Gault, 121.

Phillies Hit Chisox

Tampa, Fla. (3) — The Philadelphia Phillies scored six runs in the eighth and three in the ninth to defeat the Chicago White Sox 12-11 yesterday.

Dodgers Edge Senators

Vero Beach, Fla. (3) — Don Thompson's scratch single with the bases loaded in the last of the ninth drove in two runs to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 2-1 victory over Washington's Senators yesterday. Big Don Newcombe pitched only the last inning to gain the victory.

A total of 30 students attended the first meeting of the Barrett High School Bowling League last Wednesday. Six teams are in the circuit and each is divided into an age group. Seventh and eighth grade features one team, as does ninth grade, the junior class and the seniors. Two teams operate out of the sophomore class. The league will roll every Wednesday on the Buck Hill Forks alleys. Donna Hummel is the league secretary.

Crowe's Insurance, battling desperately to repeat as champion of the Delaware Valley Bowling League, will have to make up for lost ground in its next two matches, the most important of the campaign for the East Stroudsburg leggers. Crowe's Five meets Pat's Kiddie Shop this Saturday and Norton Oil the following Saturday, as the two top teams in the standings roll at Harmon's Recreation.

If Crowe's club is going to hold the title, it will have to perform brilliantly against the leading organizations in the next two weeks. Riegel Ridge won three points from the East Stroudsburgers last Saturday, as the opposition continues to roll hot against Captain Jake Nitel and company. Crowe's club should be about ready to break its prolonged slump. The East Stroudsburg Ladies' League will hold its annual banquet at Bill Ahlert's on Saturday, May 1.

Bob Schultz, well known in local bowling circles, is second to Carl Young in the East Penn Classic League average race with a 211.8 mark. Young, who won the first half title, hasn't rolled in the last 42 outings of his team, Catawauqua Old Dutch. Many more misses and Schultz may be awarded the title. Bob, who rolls with Bangor TV, is also well known in the Stroudsburgers as a former pitcher with the professional Poconos, when that club was a member of the class "D" North Atlantic League. Schultz has accounted for 3,806 pins in 18 games during the second half.

Young and Schultz share the season's high single game score of 289. Rudy Stosits, also of Catawauqua, owns the high match mark of 763. Bangor held down sixth place in the Classic standings as of last Saturday. The number six team has won 18 and lost the same number of second half games, and owns an average score of 985.11.

Harry Bolch was the top scorer for East Stroudsburg in the third chapter of the Elks Round Robin Bowling Tournament at Lehighton on Sunday, when he hit for a 508 total. Earl Williams and John Mazza were the big guns for the Bangor contingent as each totaled 544 pins. The next match, the final of the season, will be under the sponsorship of the Easton Club, a week from this coming Sunday. Although Easton will be the host, the matches will actually be held on the home maps of the Phillipsburg Elks, in Phillipsburg.

Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg will be represented in the Fleas Club Scratch and Handicap Tournament in Easton on Sunday, May 16. All entries must take part in both the doubles and singles events, at a cost of $4.50. Anyone wishing to enter the bowling tournament may do so by contacting Jake Nitel, or making reservations at Harmon's Recreation and the Pocono Bowling Center. Last year 34 local leggers took part in the tournament. Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg firemen will clash in a rubber bowling match at Harmon's Recreation on Sunday. Each team owns one victory thus far this season.

There is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to April and your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

TUESDAY, MARCH 16, 1954
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Vitality of purpose will govern the gains you make under the influences prevalent now. An occasional change in the aspects may tend to upset, but don't let them since they are only temporary.
April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Mildly good aspects most of the day. Avoid being drawn into complications, new propositions unless thoroughly analyzed. Study others' actions; take advantage of any favorable circumstances.
May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Curb your desire to act-on-with-it. Haste often makes waste. Better to follow a more leisurely pace and be right than be enticed into mistakes, wrong methods.
June 21 to July 20 (Cancer)—Some excellent opportunities are available to shrewd, alert Cancerians now. Maintain an upper level outlook and be ready to act when they are presented.
July 21 to August 20 (Leo)—Beneficent rays for you solutions, determined folks. Maintain your inherent good nature in all matters and they will end well. E. M. presents a much finer outlook.
August 21 to September 20 (Virgo)—Mixed aspects now, but you can make headway if you recognize the possibilities in this anything-can-happen-period. An elastic mind and careful theorizing will reap the better harvest.
September 21 to October 20 (Libra)—Pause to consider the day's tasks, then handle in the order of their importance. Set your goals according to your capacity to deliver, and you should achieve.
October 21 to November 20 (Scorpio)

Why value-wise buyers are swinging to Ford!

They are finding that Ford brings them everything they might want to meet modern tastes and requirements

You can't buy better! It's the stunning Customline Fordor Sedan.

Ford's the only low-priced car with all these "Worth More" features

Recognized leadership in styling

You can pay more but you'll never find a car that's more "at home" wherever you may drive it. For the smart new '54 Ford is as modern as tomorrow with the crisp, commanding lines of today's style leader. And it's just as smart inside! The sparkling new decorator-designed interiors have colorful new upholstery fabrics and harmonizing trim that spell quality wherever you look.

Choice of most modern engines

Ford and Ford alone, in the low-price field, offers you a choice of V-8 or Six . . . the brilliant new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 or the flashing new 115-h.p. I-block Six. Both Ford engines have rigid, extra-deep blocks for smoothest, quietest operation and extra-long life . . . plus the savings and "GO" of modern, high-compression, short-stroke, low-friction design.

Ball-Joint Front Suspension

For the first time in any low-priced car, you get the smoother riding and easier handling of Ball-Joint Front Suspension — an advance you'd expect to find only in the costliest cars.

Choice of 5 power assists . . . including Fordomatic

Only Ford in the low-price field offers power on all four windows . . . a 4-way power seat which adjusts up and down as well as forward and back. Power steering, power brakes and versatile Fordomatic Drive are also available—and they make your fine Ford even more fun to drive.

Choice of 28 new models

With fourteen stunning body styles available with either of Ford's new engines, Ford offers a car to suit every taste and need. In fact, for '54, Ford offers the widest selection of models in the entire industry!

Top value at resale

Used car prices show that in recent years Ford has consistently returned a higher proportion of its original cost at resale than any other car. And for 1954, with all its advanced new features, Ford is worth even more when you buy it . . . and it stands to reason it should be worth more when you sell it, too.

We cordially invite you to Test Drive the 1954
